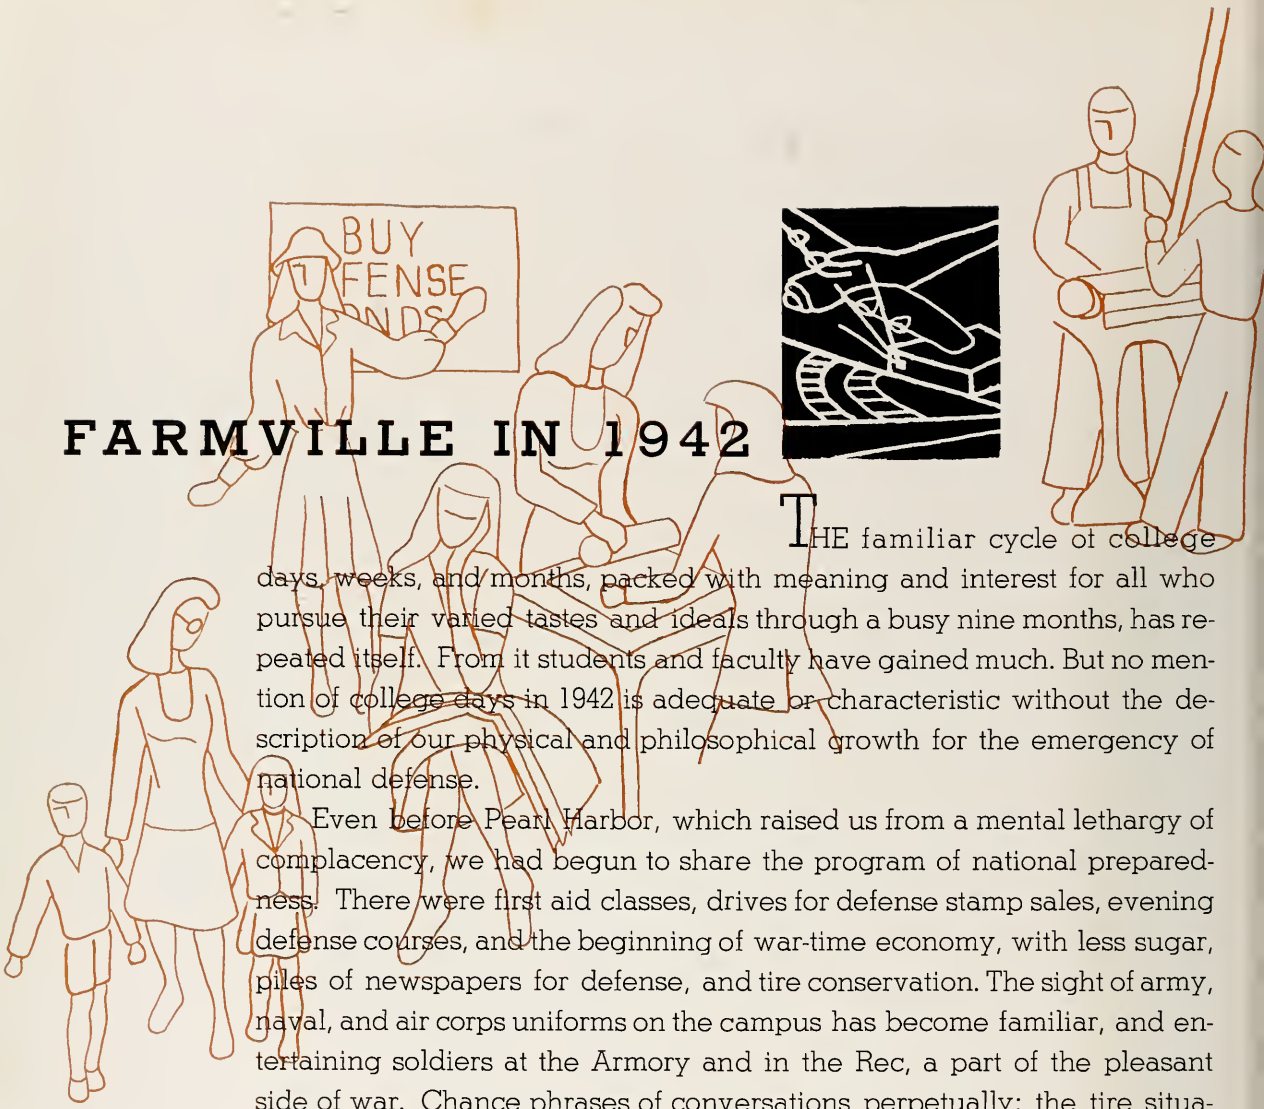
WE DEDICATE

This, the forty-first "Virginian" to Miss Mary White Cox, beloved Head of the Home, for we feel that her influence on each of us has been a significant part of our college life. From the day of our entrance to the now-approaching day of graduation, we have benefited from the wisdom of her counsel and enjoyed the quality of her friendship. Miss Mary guided us through the bewilderment of freshman days, listened to problems and confidences, and learned to know our strength and our weaknesses. And the subtle humor of her soft-voiced remarks has often sent us from her office laughing and amazed at her insight and sympathetic interest in us. We have grown to need her guidance, to respect the wisdom of her decisions, and to marvel at her patience and understanding. Because she has shared our secrets and inspired our triumphs, we pay a loving tribute to Miss Mary White Cox in our dedication of this volume.

MISS MARY WHITE COX
Head of the Home



FARMVILLE IN 1942

THE familiar cycle of college days, weeks, and months, packed with meaning and interest for all who pursue their varied tastes and ideals through a busy nine months, has repeated itself. From it students and faculty have gained much. But no mention of college days in 1942 is adequate or characteristic without the description of our physical and philosophical growth for the emergency of national defense.

Even before Pearl Harbor, which raised us from a mental lethargy of complacency, we had begun to share the program of national preparedness. There were first aid classes, drives for defense stamp sales, evening defense courses, and the beginning of war-time economy, with less sugar, piles of newspapers for defense, and tire conservation. The sight of army, naval, and air corps uniforms on the campus has become familiar, and entertaining soldiers at the Armory and in the Rec, a part of the pleasant side of war. Chance phrases of conversations perpetually: the tire situation, letters to boys at France Field, Pearl Harbor, few Coca Colas.

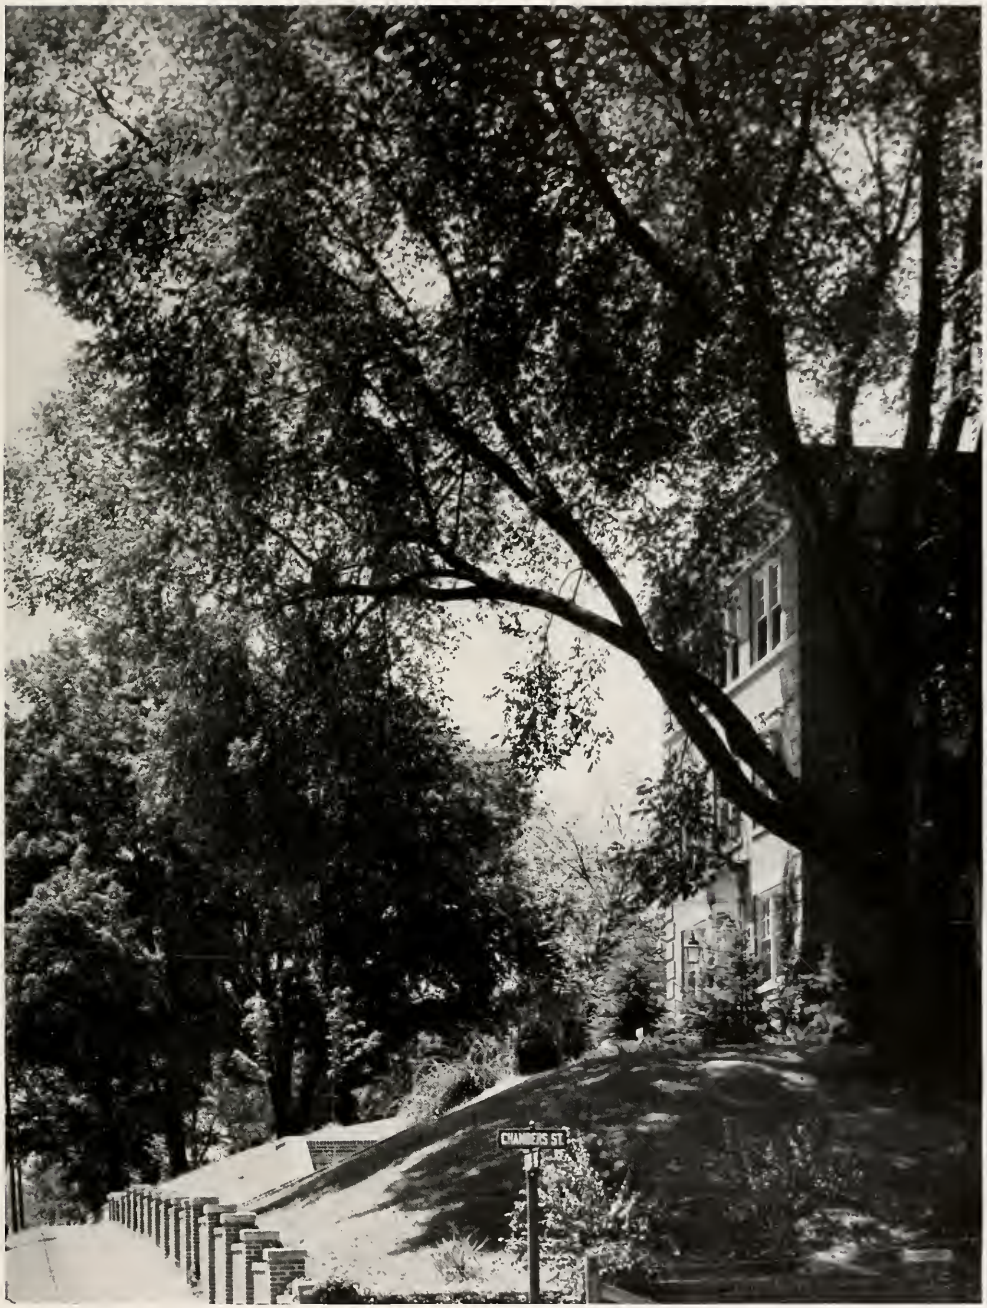
Serious phrases of conversation are, invariably and optimistically . . . physical preparedness, moral fortitude, willingness to sacrifice, a fire of patriotism which is not fluff but substance. The determination to nobly win the Last Best Hope is within us.

The Library

The setting for a story of college life is laid here . . . the scene of more serious pursuits, contacts with the classics, and deep thoughts.

Cunningham Hall

The dormitory for Juniors and Seniors has become known familiarly as "The Building" and consists of three halls for Juniors and the newer Georgian building and wing for Seniors.



CHANDLER ST

Student Building

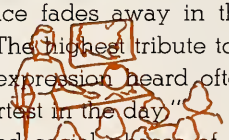
Here is the background for social functions, where receptions, teas, meetings, and dances absorb our time and furnish the necessary and pleasant relaxation from studies.

Joan of Arc

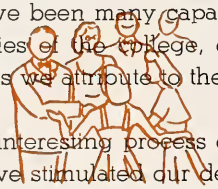
Symbolic of the college's deepest endeavor is Joan of Arc, the patron saint of the school, whose equestrian statue stands between the white columns of the Colonnade.

INTERACTION OF TEACHER AND STUDENT . . .

THERE were times in pre-college education when teachers, to their scholars, were of a world apart, but that unhappy circumstance fades away in the present relationship of those who guide and are guided. The highest tribute to the personality and enthusiasm of a professor comes in the expression heard often: "He made me enjoy the class" or "Her classes were the shortest in the day."



Throughout the administrative, academic, and social phases of our careers at Farmville there have been many capable, interested persons to direct or guide all we do. The policies of the college, our achievements in the classroom, and the success of our clubs we attribute to the integrity of the administration and faculty of the college.



It has been an interesting process of interaction. We have benefited by contact with those who have stimulated our desire for learning and our love of perfection.

DR. J. L. JARMAN

President of the college—who, by his administrative efforts and personal integrity, has made the school one to be proud of, and, by his force of character and kindliness of spirit, has influenced its high standards of achievement.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

FROM freshman to senior, every student is in constant contact with those who direct and influence all the happenings of our college life in a multitude of ways. The academic pursuits of the classroom, the social activities which round out the serious side, the physical education which is particularly important in the defense of the nation, and the business transactions necessary in the conduct of affairs . . . all receive the attention of a well-trained, experienced faculty and administration. Rarely a day passes without the necessity (by no means unpleasant) of a visit to Miss Bugg's office. As Registrar of the College, she is our consultant on such important and perplexing matters as courses, curricula, and hours of credit. The treasurer's office is carefully supervised by Miss Hiner, who minimizes financial worries of the treasurers of organizations. Miss Mary, dignified and gracious, is Head of the Home. Mr. Graham, as Business Manager, appears as an illusive person until one learns his habitual haunts . . .

the back porch, Dr. Jarman's office, and Longwood. Miss Taliaferro supervises the mail with remarkable exactitude and patience, despite this year's conflicting time schedule.

The library is synonymous in our minds with peace and quiet, furnishing the atmosphere as well as the material for more serious endeavors. Mrs. Boysworth was responsible for the timely displays on each side of the desk. She and Miss Snead were eagerly sought out when difficulties over parallel or reference began. The dietitian for the college is Miss Annie Shelton and she is assisted by Mrs. Turnbull. Each year they plan the lovely banquets at Hallowe'en, Christmas, and Valentine's.

Dr. John P. Wynne directed the Department of Education, with Mr. Holton, Miss Camper, Mr. Coyner, Dr. Swertfeger, and Mr. Johnson assisting in the fields of philosophy and psychology. We progressed from psychology and its theories of learning, to the practicalities of education in the elementary and secondary schools, and from there to the thought-provoking and disputable philosophical theories of Bode, James, Dewey, and others. Practice teachers at the elementary school, discovering that experience is far better than theory, were grateful for the assistance of Miss Cogbill, Miss Haynes, Miss Carter, Miss Norris, and Miss Henry.

Mr. Grainger, head of the English Department, chartered the courses of English majors. Each teacher we remember for a particular course from which we benefited greatly: Miss Jennings and her class in Tennyson, Miss Hiner, whose classes caught her love of Browning, Miss Foster and the novel class, the indispensable course in methods, taught by Miss London, and the interesting survey of American and British poetry taught by Miss Nichols. The Speech Department was directed by Miss Leola Wheeler, who also coached the fall and spring plays produced by the Dramatic Club.

Never has there been a greater demand for stenographers, secretaries, and bookkeepers than today, because of the inbers, figures, and angles, and thence to the more advanced principles of calculus. Artistic instincts were brought to the front under the direction of Miss Coulling and Miss Bedford, and we developed an appreciation of landscape, columns, and architecture, as well as the technique of wielding a paint brush or modeling clay figures.

History classes were a vital means of interpreting the scene of world war, as well as framing present-day facts with a conception of the past. Classes under Dr. Walmsley, head of the History Department, were valuable not only from an intellectual point of view, but in a patriotic and philosophic sense as well. Dr. Simpkins broadened our knowledge and ideas on the Civil War, as well as economics, and Miss Tucker and Miss Peck lifted our studies above mere factual accounts. No one's education was considered quite complete until she low added courses in first aid. Miss Iler assisted as coach of the hockey and basketball teams, and Miss Kauzlarich taught modern dance and directed the 1942 May Day Festival.

Laboratory sessions were in full swing every afternoon in the chemistry department, with Mr. T. A. McCorkle in the midst of a group of quantitative analysis aspirants, and Mr. French clarifying the mysteries of freshman chemistry. Miss Elizabeth Burger taught classes in general science. Dr. Jeffers' lecture hours passed more quickly than any others, and it was he and Dr. Stevens who guided us through long and difficult laboratory periods.

Foreign languages offered a challenge to the intellect, with Miss Rice teaching Latin, Miss Draper, French, and Mrs. Martin, Spanish. The Music Department, which has brought much credit to the college, was headed by Mr. Strick, with Miss Purdom and Miss Richards as assistants.

SENIOR CLASS

THE final year arrived and the Seniors of 1942 brought forth qualities of industry, responsibility, and leadership developed in previous years as underclassmen. Mary Katherine Dodson served again as president, and the other officers were Martha Roberts, vice-president; Nancy Dupuy, secretary; and Jane Engleby, treasurer.

Installation and the donning of caps and gowns came early in October, and on December 6 Senior Dance climaxed the season. Joys We Have Known became the theme of final events . . . Senior Banquet, Miss Mary's reception, Junior-Senior Prom and Graduation Exercises came in May to bring to an end the myriad experiences of four years in college.

MAJOR OFFICERS OF 1941-1942

Second row: Engleby, Johnson.
Third row: Cline, Ayers, Overbey.

JUNIOR CLASS

THE newly elected president of the Junior Class was Betty Boutchard, with Betty Youngberg as vice-president, Agnes Patterson, secretary, and Charlotte Phillips, treasurer. Miss Olive T. Iler was classman.

The prestige of rooming in "the Building" was added glory, not to mention the luxury of suites. Fall of the year saw the class united in circus stunt, hockey games, color rush, and tennis tournaments. The closing night of Club '43 was a gala event, with the Ladies of Note, Jane Sanford as a desperate deb, and other attractions. In May the class became Seniors in the arch ceremony at Senior Chapel.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

THE Sophomore Class members returned to school to take up their abode on Annex and to enjoy the pleasant and interesting pursuits of Rat Week. On the day of color rush the Sophs won the decisive hockey victory, which meant rat caps until Christmas for the Freshmen.

Dorothy Gaul served as president until Christmas, and Faye Nimmo took over the duties when Dot could not return, with Mildred Droste as vice-president, Mary Keith Bingham, secretary, and Mary Parrish Viccellio, treasurer. "Grandmother's Nightmare," the Production, was given under Patsy Connelly's direction. Miss Emily Kauzlarich, faculty adviser, was inspiring and resourceful in her assistance.

FRESHMAN CLASS

ELECTION night for the Freshmen came late in October. Harriette Moore was elected president; Mary White, vice-president; Betty Lindamood, secretary; and Myrtle Lee Holt, treasurer. Since Betty Lindamood did not come back after Christmas, Sara Bird Williams was elected to take her place. Mr. Charles French was unanimously elected classman.

Y. W. C. A. Installation at Prayers, with its impressiveness, the Circus and the hilarious stunt, Rat Week with its horrors, and the Production with its practices, were events which transformed bewildered freshmen into a self-confident, enthusiastic group, eager to serve the school each had come to love so quickly.

ACADEMIC AND PHYSICAL IN ALLIANCE

THERE is the curious balance of power, in the pursuit of both the subtle knowledge of the classroom and the physical exhilaration of the out-of-doors, which makes both the academic and athletic phases of college of intrinsic importance.

Girls go from classes to hockey games in the fall, hurry to the gym from laboratory periods for basketball practices in the winter, and divide long spring Saturdays between the library and the tennis court. Too much of studying and there is the alarm of "bookworm"; too much indulgence in sports and there is the ever-repeated advice that we came to college for an education.

The interplay of each comes with experience, and forms a pattern which will be valuable for a lifetime . . . a devotion to the intellectual and the physical release from it form a happy alliance.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Nancy Naff, President

THE purposes of the Student Government Association are to preserve student honor, to unite the students of the school for more efficient living, and to train in personal responsibility, control, and loyalty in the student body.

All of the students signed the Honor Code a few weeks after entering school, "pledging ourselves to govern our college life according to its standards and to accept our responsibility for helping others to do so." The standards set are high, and it is the duty of every member of this association to keep them as they are.

In harmony with the times, a conference of student leaders was held at the University of North Carolina, to discuss the war situation and to learn ways in which the college students of our nation can help toward bringing about a world peace. Four students from Farmville—Nancy Naff, Frances Rosebro, Anne Ware, and Agnes Patterson—attended the conference. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of the speakers for the occasion.

On the lighter side of the Council's activities were Miss Mary's birthday dinner with the Y. W. C. A. at Longwood in March and the traditional Christmas party held in Nancy Naff's room.

Our Student Government Association was organized because the students of this college felt a desire to assume some responsibility in the management of our affairs and thereby develop the principles of honor and self-reliance. Our president, Dr. Jarman, and the head of the home, Miss Mary White Cox, compose the advisory board.

The officers of the Student Council this year were Nancy Naff, president; Caroline Eason, vice-president; Agnes Patterson, secretary; Mary Fidele Haymes, treasurer; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Campus League chairman.

The ex-officio members were Jane Engleby, president of the House Council; Frances Rosebro, president of the Y. W. C. A.; and Dot Johnson, president of the Athletic Association.

Y. W. C. A.

THE year started off for the "Y" with all attention centered on the freshmen. After meeting the trains and busses, the "Y" girls gave the freshmen a party the same night in the "rec." The candle-light installation service in Joan Court for the freshmen and the Big Sister - Little Sister reception were in October. At Christmas the Y. W. C. A. again took charge of the various traditions — hanging of the greens, caroling, and observing White Christmas. Nancy Naff told the story "Why the Chimes Rang," and Miss Rice recalled the true spirit of Christmas in telling "The Other Wise Man."

Immediately after Christmas the drive for the World Student Service Fund was begun. The money collected was used to aid fellow students in China and to send workers to bolster the morale of the men in the concentration camps of Europe.

Second row: H. Walker, Naff, Dunlap, Childress, Richard, P. Hughes.

In January Dr. Sherwood Eddy was brought to the campus and received enthusiastically as he spoke on the world situation. Among the other speakers this year were the Rev. T. B. Cowan, Mrs. Eubank, Dr. Kathleen MacArthur, and the Rev. D. D. Holt.

Serving on the Y. W. C. A. Council were Frances Rosebro, president; Lucy Turnbull, vice-president; Florence Thierry, secretary; Anne Ellett, treasurer; Sophomore Counselor, Eleanor Folk; and Freshman Counselor, Louise McCorkle.

The Advisory Board was composed of Miss Winnie V. Hiner, chairman; Miss Mary Finch, Miss Lucille Jennings, Miss Rachel Royall, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Mrs. Adele H. Watkins, and ex-officio, Sarah Poole.

FRESHMAN COMMISSION

IN the fall the Freshman class nominated twenty-two girls to be voted on for the Freshman Commission. Out of these twenty-two, eleven were finally chosen by ballot. These girls and the president of the class, who automatically became a member, comprised the Freshman Commission.

Among the duties of the Freshman Commission was that of keeping people quiet in the halls during prayers. After breakfast on Sunday mornings members conducted Morning Watch in the Student Building Lounge. All through the year the group assisted the Y. W. C. A. in every way possible.

The Commission was in charge of the Hanging of the Greens in the Rotunda at Christmas. The effect created was beautiful, and after it was over, the Freshman Commission was invited by the Sophomore Commission to join them caroling.

Louise McCorkle was the freshman counselor, who helped them in their work. The officers for the year were: Julia Belle Glenn as chairman; Katherine Penn Baker as secretary; Nell Varn as treasurer; and Mary Elizabeth Butterworth as chairman of Morning Watch. Meetings were held every first and third Wednesday night.

SOPHOMORE COMMISSION

EARLY in October Betty Bridgforth was elected chairman of the Sophomore Commission to replace Dreama Waid, who did not return to school. Dottie Sue Simmons and Mary Parrish Viccellio served as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

The Commission's attempt to bring the freshman class together and help them to become adjusted to college life resulted in a junior "Y" for the freshmen. With this idea of helping freshmen become acclimated to school life, the club sponsored such speakers as Dr. George W. Jeffers, Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, and Mr. A. H. Hollingsworth.

Among the odd jobs the Commission has undertaken for the school have been posting the dining-room announcements, distributing the hymn books in chapel, and selling hot dogs, candy and nabs. At the Quiz-A-Roo, the quiz program, Commission members ushered and served refreshments.

"Religious Emphasis Week," the last week in February, introduced the Reverend Sherrard Rice of Union Theological Seminary and brought back Caralie Nelson, president of the student body last year.

HOUSE COUNCIL

THE usual trials confronted the House Council — feathers over the rotunda, snow battles, bell rope cutting, and Saturday night bull sessions until all hours. The freshmen featured quite prominently in capturing the most "campus cards." However, the Council was more than able to cope with the mischief-makers, the officers being Jane Engleby, president; Elizabeth Ann Parker, vice-president; Margaret Mish, secretary; and Ann Ware, treasurer.

Jane Engleby, President

Third row: Quinn, C. Phillips, Simmons, Pharis, H. Walker, Carroll.

Second row: N. Bowles, A. Ware, Alexander, J. Ware.

The annual Christmas party, which was held in Jane Engleby's room, was planned by Helen Gilliam and Jane Smith. In the spring Miss Mary's picnic was given at Longwood.

The Council met every first and third Monday night in the Council Room. Each quarter began with a roll call meeting on each hall; then the hall presidents reviewed the House Council regulations. Study hour was declared from seven-thirty until ten. Ten o'clock until ten-thirty was set aside for the usual bedtime chatter, visiting, and swing sessions. Late light permissions were granted until eleven o'clock. The Coca-Cola machine in the Main Building and in Junior Building caused the usual amount of trouble after ten-thirty, and the usual call-downs were given to those visiting them after hours.

KAPPA DELTA PI

THE Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, has as its ideals scholarship, character, and service.

Led by Mary Hunter Edmunds, as president, Elizabeth Ann Parker as vice-president, Sarah Chambers as secretary, Lillian German as treasurer, and Miss Pauline Camper as adviser, the chapter has done several outstanding things this year. During National Education week it sponsored talks each day in chapel about some phase of education. At the Christmas banquet, Mr. Dabney Stuart Lancaster, state superintendent of public instruction, was initiated as honorary member of the chapter.

One of the most important functions of the society was sending Miss Mary Nichols to California to represent the chapter at the national convention, February 23 to 25. In the spring a reception was given for those freshmen and sophomores whose averages were in the upper fourth in their class.

ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA

THE Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, regional leadership fraternity, has as members two of the national officers, Mary Katherine Dodson, president, and Margaret Wright, editor of the Torch Bearer.

Five seniors, Virginia Barksdale, Mary Hunter Edmunds, Lillian German, Polly Keller, and May Wertz; and six juniors, Eleanor Folk, Hallie Hillsman, Agnes Patterson, Jane Sanford, Winifred Wright and Betty Youngberg, became members after winter tapping service. Caroline Eason, president; Mary Katherine Dodson, vice-president; Margaret Wright, secretary; Lucy Turnbull, treasurer, were the officers. Miss Grace Moran and Miss Ruth Gleaves were the advisers.

ALPHA PHI SIGMA

ALPHA Phi Sigma, an honor society in scholarship, is composed of freshmen who were either valedictorians or salutatorians in their high schools, and of sophomores who made a B average during their freshman year. In order to remain a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, each girl must retain an average of at least C. Alpha Phi Sigma members strive to attain the best scholastic record possible. The society strives to counteract all influences not conducive to high scholastic standing, since it was organized to promote better scholarship at S. T. C.

At the monthly meetings, the members discussed problems to be solved in school and questions of current world interest. One of the special activities of the society this year was the establishment and maintenance of a Student Loan Fund.

Texie Belle Felts was elected president at the beginning of the year but was forced to resign because of the point system. Nelle Quinn was then elected and served throughout the year. Helen Wiley Hardy was vice-president; Louise Bell, secretary; Ann Ware, treasurer; Frances Lee Hawthorne, reporter.

Second row: Chambers, J. Hutcheson, F. Winn, Mr. Holton, E. Smith, German, Benton, Hatton, A. Patterson, A. Ellett.

PI GAMMA MU

AS a project this year the members of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, wrote the lives of those men and women whose portraits hang in the library. In December the fraternity sponsored an open forum at which Dr. Charles Morgan, English author and lecturer, was the guest speaker. The Pi Gamma Mu national convention held in New York during the Christmas holidays was attended by Mary Lilly Purdum and Mary Hunter Edmunds. Lucy Turnbull and Anne Ellett represented the chapter at a State Convention of International Relations Clubs in Richmond, December 13 and 14. Mardi Gras on February 14 was one of the largest projects of the year. The members of Pi Gamma Mu planned the dance under the direction of Elizabeth Anne Parker, chairman. Two other features of the annual social program were a Founders Day banquet in March and a picnic at Willis Mountain in the spring.

Mary Lilly Purdum served as president, with Mary Hunter Edmunds as vice-president, Betty Peerman, secretary, Anne Ayers, treasurer, and Mr. Holton, adviser. Miss Peck and Mr. Coyner were associate members for the year.

Second row: Edmunds, Callahan, Cobb, Steidtmann, B. Reid, A. Read, F. Winn, Tennent.
Third row: Folk, Weathers, Youngberg, Strick, Abernathy, W. Wright.
Standing: Brickert, Coleman, R. Rogers, M. Davis, Woodall.

BEORC EH THORN

BEORC Eh Thorn is an honor organization whose membership includes girls who have displayed outstanding ability and interest in mastery of the English language and creative expression.

The subject of the year's series of monthly programs was the 1941 Pulitzer prize awards in poetry, biography, history, and drama. One meeting was devoted entirely to the original work of the members of the society. In the fall Beorc Eh Thorn sponsored one lecture of Charles Morgan, English novelist and lecturer. In March it had as its annual speaker Robert Coffin.

May Wertz was president of the society, with Jo Brumfield, vice-president; Rachel Abernathy, secretary; Mary Ann Cobb, recording secretary; and Flora Winn, treasurer. Miss Jennings, Miss Hiner, Miss London, and Mr. Grainger were the advisers.

GAMMA PSI

ONE of the outstanding services rendered by Gamma Psi, honorary art fraternity, was the decorating of the gym for Fall Cotillion dance. A Manhattan skyline was the background, with variations of blue against a heavy black skyline, and shining silver stars completing the evening picture. At Christmas, Miss Booton, adviser, gave a party and demonstrated clever table decorations that could be made by the members.

The main project for the year was to make large puppets for use in marionette shows to be given sometime in the spring. While making these puppets the girls have learned a great deal about their construction and operation. Gamma Psi also started a new policy this year of charging a small fee for posters made by its members.

Winifred Wright acted as president this year; Lillian German as vice-president. Geraldine Beckner was secretary; Anne Turner, treasurer; Miss Marjorie Booton, adviser.

A new informal scrapbook is being started this year to keep records of activities.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

THE Commercial Club was started on November 1, 1939. This club was organized for commercial students in order to stimulate an interest in the field of business, to get information and understanding of the business world, and to have an opportunity of knowing each other.

One of the greatest accomplishments of the Commercial Club was its annual dance, which was given this year on January 24th. It was decided at the January meeting that the club should buy a defense bond with a part of the money received from the dance. The Commercial Club was one of the first clubs on the campus to contribute its part to national defense. Work continued on the club publication, "The Stenographer," with Mildred Corvin as its editor.

The honorary members were Miss Hiner, Miss Bugg, Mrs. Watkins, and Mr. Graham. The advisers were Miss Craddock, Mrs. Wynne, Mr. Landrum, and Mr. Myers.

The officers were Marie Thompson, president; Catherine Dunton, vice-president; Mildred Corvin, secretary; and Kathryn Hawthorne, treasurer.

PI KAPPA DELTA

ONE of the first events of importance for the Pi Kappa Delta members this year was the Dixie Tournament at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina, where four girls debated the question, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Regulate by Law All Labor Unions in the United States." In the winter more exciting debates were held, and again a team traveled south to participate in the South Atlantic Tournament in Hickory, North Carolina. The big event of the year was the Big National Tournament in Minneapolis, Minnesota, where Elizabeth Ann Parker, president of Pi Kappa Delta, and Virginia Sedgley, president of the Debate Club, represented the chapter. Myrtle Jenkins is vice-president of the society, and Miss Mary Nichols is adviser.

THE DEBATE CLUB

THE Debate Club invites the membership of students interested in any phase of public speaking. It acts somewhat as a "proving ground," to prepare for membership in its sister organization, Pi Kappa Delta.

In the fall debaters traveled to Lynchburg College and to the Dixie Tournament at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina. Kyle Barnhill, Marilyn Bell, Alice Nichols, Ann Randolph, Virginia Sedgley, and Jo Starling accepted bids.

Scheduled trips during winter and spring were to Roanoke College, the Grand Eastern Tournament at Winthrop College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, North Carolina, and the National Pi Kappa Delta Convention in Minneapolis.

After Marjorie Rice and Dorothy Gaul left school, Virginia Sedgley and Marilyn Bell were elected president and treasurer respectively. Dorothy Marrow, vice-president, and Jane E. Smith, secretary, filled the other offices. Dr. Swertfeger was coach; Miss Nichols and Dr. Walmsley were advisers.

Standing: Dodson, Ayers, Sampson, J. Jackson, Parham, Pearsall, Engleby, Naff, Cline, Rosebro, Moomaw, D. Johnson, A. Overbey, J. Eason.

STUDENT STANDARDS

IN order to decrease the bewilderment of incoming freshmen, Student Standards devised a program to make the new girls feel more at home. This year the freshmen were divided into small groups advised by faculty members and two orientation leaders. They were introduced to life at Farmville before the upper classmen arrived.

Second in line of the committee's duties was that of placing a large calendar just outside of Dr. Jarman's office upon which all the meetings and lectures were recorded, thereby avoiding conflicts. Lucy Turnbull deserves praise for her excellent work as the first chairman of the year's calendar.

Through the efforts of Student Standards, Dr. Walmsley agreed to hold a class in parliamentary law, which was attended by heads of all organizations.

This year through the cooperation of Miss Bedford, Miss Draper, Miss Hiner, Miss Nichols, Miss Moran, Miss Royall, and Mrs. Watkins, the faculty advisers, Student Standards has indeed served the college well.

SIGMA PI RHO

SIGMA Pi Rho was founded in 1935 as the national honorary fraternity in Latin for teachers' colleges. The purpose of this fraternity has been the fostering of love for the classics, the inculcating of the ideals of scholarship, and the promotion of training for teachers in Latin.

The officers of the Virginia Alpha chapter were: Jane Lee Hutcheson, president; Alice Marie Coberly, vice-president; and Arlene Hunt, secretary-treasurer. Miss Minnie V. Rice acted as adviser.

The outstanding decision of the 1941 Sigma Pi Rho convention held in Louisiana last May was to have the editor-in-chief of "The Tributum," official publication of Sigma Pi Rho, elected from the Farmville chapter. Sara Cline was chosen, and for the first time the magazine was printed instead of mimeographed.

SODALITAS LATINA

SODALITAS Latina, commonly known as the Latin Club, which is open to anyone interested in Latin, proposes to increase interest in Latin from both the utilitarian and the cultural aspects.

Using the Julian Calendar, the product of the efforts of the ancients employed in the calculation of their festive and civil days, the Sodalitas Latina arranges its programs according to each month. In these programs the customs of both the ancients and moderns are emphasized.

The officers of the Sodalitas Latina this year were: Elizabeth Walker, president; Mary St. Clair Bugg, vice-president; Eleanor Boothe, secretary and treasurer. The faculty adviser was Miss Minnie V. Rice, known and beloved not only by her own pupils but also by all students of this college to which she has contributed so generously her labor and time.

Second row: Ruffin, House, Dodl, Jenkins, Kauffman, Culley.

ASSOCIATION OF CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

THE Association of Childhood Education had as its chief service project this year the supporting of a British baby. Their monthly meetings have been varied, featuring both the social and the educational. In October, they had a surprise birthday party for Miss Grace Mix, life member of the association. Again in December Miss Mix attended a Christmas party at Miss Haynes' apartment and told Christmas stories to the members. The January meeting was centered around audio-visual education, and was held in the audio-visual room in the library. Miss Beech, Mrs. Adele Watkins, Miss Helen Draper, and Mr. Albert Johnson demonstrated the use of this equipment in the classroom.

Officers for the year were Emma Louise Crowgey, president; Sally Hutcheson, vice-president; Lillian Wahab, secretary; Gene Hardy Kilmon, treasurer; and Lucie Ellen Powell, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Miss Mary Haynes served as adviser.

Second row: Townsend, W. Wright, H. Walker, Bradshaw.

MAY DAY COMMITTEE

A SCENE of peace and plenty in the picturesque days of early eighteenth century Virginia was portrayed by May Day. Governor Spotswood, handsome adventurer, set out with a band of young gallants to explore the Blue Ridge. On his return the citizens of Williamsburg planned a fete worthy of their successful journey . . . a day of merrymaking and rejoicing. The day proceeded in an interesting array of events . . . the Negroes' preparations, the children's May pole, sporting contests for the elders, and gay dances on the green. Spotswood crowned the most distinguished lady as Queen of the May, and Mary Lou Shannon was the lady of his choice, with Nancy Naff and a court of twenty girls attending her. A Cotillion ball heightened the gayety and concluded the festival.

May Wertz was general chairman of May Day; Martha Roberts was business manager. The following girls served on the committee: dances, Ann Bradshaw and Mary Hunter Edmunds; music, Sara Chambers; staging, Harriet Walker; transportation, Winifred Wright; costumes, Elizabeth Townsend, Dorothy Lawrence, Sara Seward, Dot Childress, and Gene Hardy Kilmon.

THE ROTUNDA

THE Rotunda has enjoyed a most successful year under the editorship of Sara Cline. The spring issues received the honor rating of "first class-excellent" in the second semester All-American critical service, which is conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press. The Rotunda also won first place among class A Virginia weekly college newspapers in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association contest this past fall.

In an effort to learn the trends of the modern newspaper, Sara Cline, editor-in-chief; Mary Lilly Purdum, managing editor; and Texie Belle Felts, business manager, represented The Rotunda at the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in St. Louis, Missouri.

It has been the policy of The Rotunda to represent and display individuals and groups in an unprejudiced and unbiased manner. Despite the difficulty of task, Ella Banks Weathers, news editor; Mary Parrish Viccellio, feature editor; Shirley Pierce, sports editor; and Jane Sanford, social editor, covered their respective fields in a highly commendable fashion.

THE VIRGINIAN

THE general theme of this year's Virginian follows the life of a Farmville student and portrays the effect that the various college activities have on shaping her character. The heads of the 1942 Virginian staffs were Anne Ayers, editor-in-chief; May Wertz, managing editor; Gay Ward Brown, business manager; Elizabeth Tennent, literary editor; Marty Roberts, photographic editor; and Anne Turner, art editor.

The dance sponsored each year by the annual was held in the gymnasium as the climax of May Day. Decorations planned by Sarah Trigg carried out the theme of the college girl's place in the world of today.

Early in May the dedication exercises were held in Chapel, this year's annual being dedicated to Miss Mary White Cox.

Mr. T. A. McCorkle, adviser of the annual; Miss Nancy Foster, literary adviser; and Miss Virginia Bedford, art adviser, proved invaluable in their patience, helpful cooperation, and understanding during the long months of planning and work.

THE COLONNADE

THE Colonnade, bi-monthly magazine of the college, was edited this year by Allene Overbey with May Turner Winn as business manager.

A few of the most interesting and entertaining features in the issues were Margie Rice's first-prize story "Mully," Cottie Radspinner's middle pages, "Campus Hints," and Dr. Walmsley's "Advice to Freshmen."

Mr. Wall and Mr. Lancaster of The Herald office did their part to make the magazine this year better than ever before. Serving on the Advisory Board were Mr. J. M. Grainger, chairman; Miss Jennings, Miss Taliaferro, Miss Craddock, Miss Booton, Mr. Coyner, and Dr. Simpkins.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

PROMOTING health and general efficiency in a well-rounded program is the main objective of the Athletic Association. Archery, basketball, hockey, swimming, tennis, volleyball, and other sports are all sponsored by the A. A. here on this campus in such a way as to appeal to many instead of a few. Two additions to sport facilities this year were the new athletic field and the new tennis courts. Both have added enthusiasm and stimulated fresh interest in hockey and tennis. The Association sent two girls to hockey camp and twelve varsity members to the State Hockey Tournament. In tennis several successful tournaments were organized and played off in both singles and doubles.

Other highlights of the sports calendar were archery tournaments, varsity basketball trips, Color Rush, and inter-class hockey games. There were also inter-class and inter-collegiate swimming meets as well as the recreational sports, which included golf and ping-pong. A volleyball tournament in the spring rounded out the year. Socials, too, had a place with the athletics. To make the winter Saturday nights seem not so long, the Student Lounge was turned into a play room where bridge, checkers, and all sorts of games could be enjoyed by everyone. On the social side, too, was a welcoming picnic for the freshmen and a Christmas party for the Cabinet.

Heads of the Athletic Association this year were Dorothy Johnson, president; Martha Roberts, vice-president; Peggy Hughes, secretary; Sarah Wade Owen, treasurer, and Miss Olive T. Iler, adviser and coach. Individual sports were headed by the Sports managers: Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham, Jean Carr, Nell Hurt, Mary K. Zehmer, Shirley Turner, Ruth Dugger, Dorothy Darracott, Ellen Ebel, and Irma Graff.

ORCHESIS, the modern dance club, has as its purpose the promotion and stimulation of interest in dancing. It works toward these aims by presenting programs to the public, the major ones being given on Founder's Day and May Day.

The first activity of this year took place at the University of North Carolina. At this time nine representatives of the club attended classes in techniques and composition. A similar trip was made by the entire club to witness the performances of Martha Graham and her group at Randolph-Macon Woman's College. In the latter part of February Farmville played hostess to the representatives of a number of schools at a dance symposium. The events on the home ground were highlighted by the Christmas program and the annual recital. The December concert was centered around the religious study of the Nativity. A brief and amusing skit depicted the attitudes of the buyers of Christmas cards, making an amusing interlude.

Ann Bradshaw was president; Louisa Sanford, secretary-treasurer; and Harriette Walker, costume chairman. May Wertz was accompanist; Miss Emily Kauzlarich was adviser.

MONOGRAM CLUB

GOING out on Saturdays to hike in the brisk autumn air was one of the main treats sponsored by the club last fall. The Longwood bun was an added attraction and truly a grand finale to these hikes.

Color rush as always was a busy time for the club. It was quite a job to make enough "hockey sticks" and to "keep in cokes." At Christmas time the "Blue and White" girls joined in with A. A. Cabinet in a colossal party. Here they laid plans for the new year and reaffirmed their ideal of good sportsmanship always. Harriette Walker served as president; Martha Roberts was vice-president; Hallie Hillsman was secretary-treasurer. Miss Iler was adviser.

PEGASUS

PEGASUS stands not only for "The White Winged Horse" but for chic riders and well gaited stock. Emphasis goes on the latter. However these enthusiasts have experienced keen pleasure and have developed a fine sportsmanship, whether their ride was "jump" or "bump."

The club serves as an educational as well as recreational center, where various types of riding are made available. There are pleasurable jaunts to Longwood and elsewhere included in the seasonal sport classes for the more expert. Show-ring riding was a special feature. Members were, as always, eager to show their accomplishments to the public at the Spring Exhibition in the form of riding contests, formation and individual achievements. Adequate training was also given for those desiring to become instructors in summer camps. These girls learned, in addition to expert horsemanship, general stable care and management, together with the proper handling of horses.

The Hunt Club was introduced into the activities this year under the guidance of Miss Stella Fox.

Kay Spencer was president of Pegasus; Ann Berry, vice-president; Rebecca Spicer, secretary; and Elizabeth Gunter, treasurer.

H_2O CLUB

THE H_2O Club has as its purposes the promotion of swimming activities, acting as life guards at the pool, and cooperation with the Athletic Association in sponsoring swimming events.

This year every freshman was required to pass a standard swimming test. Special classes were taught for these girls by two H_2O Club members, Nancy Dupuy and Mildred Droste. Mr. Max Roate of the American Red Cross was engaged in the fall by the club to offer an American Red Cross Instructors Course in swimming. The objects of this course were to perfect strokes and to instruct in all phases of life saving.

The club was kept busy with other activities throughout the fall. The annual Water Carnival was postponed until spring; then all the classes collaborated in presenting the water pageant. Early in February the Inter-class Swimming Meet was held, in which the classes contested for color cup points. This year the Inter-Collegiate Telegraphic Meet was sponsored by the Farmville H_2O Club. The pool was open for recreational swimming every Saturday night.

Peggy Hughes acted as president, with Elizabeth Gunter as secretary-treasurer. Miss Barlow was adviser.

HOCKEY TEAM

IN October hockey season was greeted with much excitement. The Athletic Association had a new hockey field to present. Hallie Hillsman and Sara Hardy received extra training in a summer hockey camp. Hallie Hillsman was made manager.

Class teams were organized. Mary Lilly Purdum and Hallie Hillsman were the Senior and Junior captains; the Sophomores and Freshmen chose Lee Foster and Helen Wilson respectively to head their teams. Twenty-nine girls were chosen for the varsity squad, and of these, twelve entered the Virginia Hockey Tournament and attended the meeting of the association held at Westhampton College. The big event of the season for varsity was the triumph over the Richmond Professional Institute, Division of College of William and Mary, with a score of 4-0.

Then came Color Rush! The Junior-Senior game resulted in a 2-0 victory for the Juniors; the Sophomores downed the Freshmen with the same score of 2-0. The winning teams, Juniors and Sophomores, then combatted for the points to go on the color cup, which ended with a Sophomore and Red and White victory.

BASKETBALL TEAM

GENERAL basketball was directed this year by Nell Hurt. Practices were arranged so that there would be organized competition within classes. Class games were played off in a tournament in which Green and White was victorious.

The freshmen met and more than matched some of the local high schools. Out of five games came five victories for them. Jean Carr was their manager.

Varsity schedule this year included games with Radford, 31-27; William and Mary, 42-25; Richmond Professional Institute, 35-19; and Madison. The first three schools were met on their courts. The results were winning games for Farmville. Dot Johnson, Dot Sprinkle, Martha Roberts, Frances Parham, Anne Ellett, Anne Price, Jean Carr, Hallie Hillsman, Patsy Connelly, June Smith, and Dotty Sue Simmons were the members of the varsity squad. Before an excited Founders Day crowd on March 7 Farmville vied with Madison College with a score of 32-18. Under the leadership of Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, Martha Roberts, captain, Frances Parham, manager, Farmville finished another season undefeated.

TENNIS

WHEN fall rolled around, the new tennis courts were the most welcome of the new additions to the school. They were certainly the most popular; tennis enthusiasts were busy arranging matches and could hardly get into shorts and sneakers fast enough.

Soon a preliminary tournament was under way, mainly for the purpose of finding out where interest and new talent lay. In short, it was a tennis tete a tete. When the real contest came off, much of the discovered talent got into the race. Out of the sixteen competitors, Ruth Dugger "backhanded" herself to the top of the ladder and came out winner of singles.

The planned exhibition of the three noted tennis stars—Mary Hardwich, Dorothy Round Little, and Charles E. Hare—had to be called off. December 5th and cold weather closed the courts until spring. At the first chirp the spring tournament started. This time it was doubles. This finished off a wonderful season with enthusiasm to spare and a forward look to next fall and more tennis.

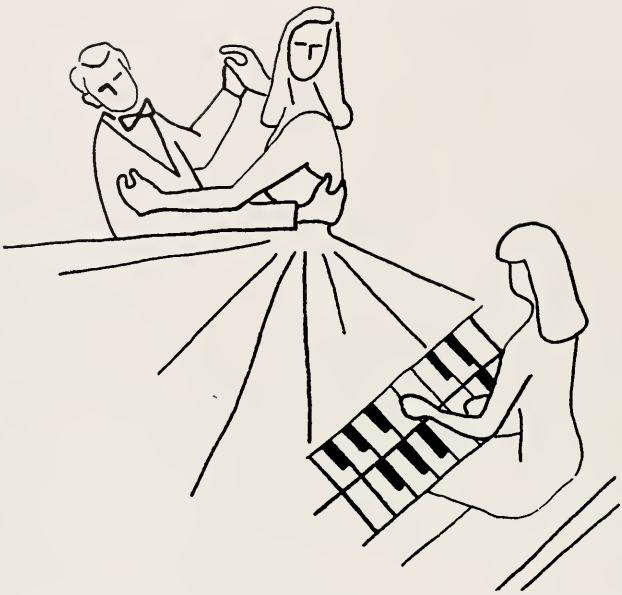
ARCHERY

THIS year the archers were quite proud of their new and very exclusive "Sherwood Forest." Located behind the Library on the old tennis courts, it was just secluded enough to provide a happy retreat for the modern Robin Hoods. Here they learned the fundamentals and techniques four days a week. After the first preliminary "notching" and "loosing," practice soon turned into keen competition.

Mary Katherine Zehmer, head of Archery, and her assistant, Sara Jeffreys, arranged a tournament in which there was shooting for individual scores. These scores were pooled according to class colors, and the winner was awarded the Archery color cup points.

Spring uncovered new interest and talent. With some extra work on form and accuracy, preparations were made for a second tournament. This time teams of archers shot for high honors rather than for individual scores.



SIGNIFICANCE

OF THE SOCIAL

THAT a man is judged by the quality of his friendships is no idle comment. School life furnishes the ideal background for the formation of such friendships. It begins with the inevitable roommate alliance, and is soon followed by companionships gained in classes, in clubs of mutual interest, on the athletic field, and in social sororities, whose vows give friendship a sacred significance.

Every one who has lived in the close contacts of college has the remembrance of things such as these . . . "the crowd" on its walks to Longwood, the joys of picnics and parties, the fun of dancing and dating, the relaxation of chats in the tearoom, bull sessions on a Saturday night, and confidences exchanged in the small hours. Social life has given gayety and relaxation and inspiration to our days.

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

THE girls of Alpha Chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha initiated their year of work and play together with an animated discussion of their national convention. That president Polly Keller was socially as well as intellectually active while attending the convention was proved by various clippings from the Chicago papers. She brought back many new ideas and succeeded admirably in leading and inspiring Alpha Chapter this year. Winifred Wright was a loyal and efficient vice-president.

One of the new experiments undertaken by Alpha Sigma Alpha was the complicated budget which Kitty Powell, treasurer, labored so diligently to keep under control. Also an innovation was the highly interesting little file box securely hidden away in Nelle Quinn's room.

Gene Hardy Kilmon, secretary, faithfully recorded the minutes of the meetings and attended to all correspondence. The chapter's membership statistics were kept in good order by the registrar, Ella Marsh Pilkinton. As chaplain, Caroline Eason left nothing undone in the way of furnishing spiritual guidance, and Jean Hatton was in charge of all properties. Seats on the Pan-Hellenic council were held by Mary Jane Ritchie, representative, and Nancye Allen, alternate.

The Founders Day Banquet at Longwood was a success in every way. Throughout the year Miss Grace Moran as faculty adviser helped the girls of A. S. A. in every phase of living. She was ever gracious and charming.

Winter rushing was a time of great excitement and at the end of rush week the following pledges were welcomed into Alpha Sigma Alpha: Caroline Bargamin, Lois Baughman, Lelia Dowell, Ann Page Francis, Jean Guy, Marie Hedgecock, Margaret Hiner, Myrtle Lee Holt, Margaret Kennedy, Betty Kiger, Anne Martenstein, Irma Page, Gwen Sampson, Lindsey Watkins, and Mary Elizabeth White.

The honorary members are: Mrs. R. H. Cattin, Mrs. Southard Shields, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Mrs. W. J. Sydnor, and Miss Katherine Watkins; and the patronesses: Miss Winnie V. Hiner, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Mary E. Peck, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley.

ALPHA SIGMA TAU

ALPHA Sigma Tau members entered school in September with vivid and blithe recollections of their house party at Virginia Beach. Arlington Hotel was the scene of many carefree moments during that week.

School had not been in session long when the chapter was honored with a visit from Mrs. Carrie Stochle, national president of Alpha Sigma Tau. Her presence was celebrated by a tea and chapter party. Various other social events were enjoyed by the chapter during the fall. The Founders Day Banquet brought many Alpha Sigma Tau alumnae back to Farmville. Following this banquet a bridge party was held in the chapter room, and a breakfast was served the next morning.

With the fall rushing another name was added to the chapter roll. Nell Pritchett was the pledge, one who had long been desired by the chapter.

As Christmas was approaching, the members felt the need for a gay party. Gay it was, with appropriately festive decorations and much laughter and jesting among the members.

Fourteen future Alpha Sigma Taus were the result of winter rushing. These pledges were: Charlotte Andrews, Polly Commack, Joyce Cheatwood, Anne Evans, Vera Fifer, Nancy Hutter, Estelle Paulette, Margaret Ann Pritchett, Nell Richards, Sally Robertson, Nell Shafer, Betty Gray Smithdeal, Alice Warren, and Esther Lee Wilson.

Along with spring came the senior picnic of Alpha Sigma Tau. Longwood provided a setting of simple beauty. Besides the fine array of picnic delicacies there were gifts for the twelve seniors and pledges.

The successful achievements of the chapter were largely due to the competence of the officers in managing the affairs of Alpha Sigma Tau. Ann Turner, president, showed by her skillful leading of the chapter in all its enterprises that she was worthy of her office. Her loyal aide, Charlotte Greeley, occupied the vice-presidency in a fine manner. Secretary Ada Claire Snyder performed her duties willingly and well. Keeping in order the financial records of Alpha Sigma Tau was the job of Marie Thompson, treasurer. Jean Arington, editor, cleverly represented the chapter in literary matters. Essential to the chapter was Miss Virginia Bedford, faculty adviser. Her sincerity and charm endeared her to each member.

GAMMA THETA

THE officers of Gamma Theta, who directed the activities of the sorority so successfully this year, were Betty Peerman, head; Nancy Dupuy, vice-head; Martha Cottrell, secretary; and Charlotte Phillips, treasurer. Miss Florence Stubbs is faculty adviser for the chapter. Her great love of life and living make her influence a vital one. Under this intelligent leadership the chapter accomplished more than ever and grew even stronger and finer.

In the fall Leona Moomaw was rushed by the sorority. All the members gave her a warm and hearty welcome and she soon became a most worthy asset to the chapter.

Numerous social functions served to create fellowship between the members. The annual spaghetti supper at the Longwood cabin was among the first of these and was an occasion of great enjoyment. Hallowe'en called for a celebration; a gay party was held in the chapter room. Miss

Stubbs gave an ice cream party when the hot fall weather was sapping everyone's energy.

Winter rushing was a period of fervent activity, which was well rewarded when the following girls became pledges of Gamma Theta: Emily Kyle Ainsworth, Betty Cross, Carol Diggs, Nancy DuVal, Anne Payne, Beryl Roberts, Mary Ambler Thomasson, Kate Thompson, Frances Wentzel, Ophelia Whittle, and Nancy Williams. A banquet was held at Longwood in their honor after all had been formally pledged.

On Founder's Day came another delicious banquet, this time in the tearoom. Then, later in the spring, the chapter held its last large social event, the Spring Banquet at Longwood. Many alumnae returned for the occasion and were welcomed with great rejoicing by the girls. Besides giving these large, more formal events various members entertained the chapter on Sunday afternoons throughout the year. All in all, the sorority was socially very active during the school term.

MU OMEGA

IN retrospect—spring of 1941 brought to Mu Omega Anne Fitchette of Portsmouth, a first edition of their alumnae magazine—The Circle—and as a final fling before exams, their picnic at Bear Creek Lake. Take the proverbial hamburgers garnished with dill pickle and cokes, potato chips, olives, Longwood buns, and all that goes with a picnic. Throw in wading, a dash of Boo and her giggles, mixed in with the Mu Omega and senior songs. It all adds up to a grand climax of another year of fun together.

Back at school in September the Mu Omegas brought memories of a "chipper" house party at Virginia Beach filled with gardenias, gaiety, glamour, and gentlemen. "Ah Kouchou tell me" was the password for all—quite overworked, as clichés often are.

Highlights of the fall quarter was the steak dinner in honor of their two pledges, Jane Smith, a sophomore, and Anne Rogers, a junior.

Betty Reid's interpretation of Santa at the Christmas party will long be remembered. It added spice to the give and take of the occasion, as Santa could not always read the verses through his mask.

Second row: A. Moore, Ayers, M. Roberts.

An addition was made to the chapter this year as the Mu Omegas adopted a British baby. The walls of the chapter room were painted light blue. New curtains were also gotten for the room. Sunday teas are a Mu Omega tradition now and have been quite gay and original this year.

Officers for the year 1941-1942 include Lillian Wahab, head; Betty Reid, vice-head; Nell Hurt, secretary; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, treasurer. Miss Leola Wheeler continued as adviser.

Biggest activity of the Mu Omegas this year was the publication of The Circle. The response from the alumnae last year showed it well worth a second edition. Anne Ayers served as editor. The Circle is published for the alumnae and for the purpose of keeping them informed about activities at school.

Fall rushing proved quite successful. The sixteen pledging Mu Omega were Marilyn Bell, Betty Blackwell, Olive Bradshaw, Mary Williams Calvert, Helen Cobbs, Sarah Eschan, Sara Wayne France, Peggy Gray, Fay Johnson, Jane Knapton, Shirley Pierce, Anne Randolph, Josephine Shaffner, Eleanor Wade, Ann Warrick, and Sara Bird Williams.

PHI ZETA SIGMA

WHEN the members of Phi Zeta Sigma assembled in September, they found a spacious new chapter room awaiting them. They combined their energies in buying and arranging attractive and suitable furnishings. Since all worked together, it was only a short while until the room was in flawless condition.

With the advent of fall rushing Louise Phillips and Mary Smith were greeted as the newest sisters. Phi Zeta Sigma soon became as vital a force in their lives as in the lives of the old members.

The social calendar was filled with various functions. The Hallowe'en party, pledge parties, the Christmas party with Santa Claus distributing the presents, Founders Day banquet, teas, the annual spring banquet, and a farewell picnic in honor of the seniors, all helped immeasurably in erasing the cares of studying and brought enjoyment to every member.

The following girls became pledges of Phi Zeta Sigma at the close of winter rushing: Margaret Bear, Phyllis Butler, Susan Durrett, Alice Feitig, Nancy Kerse, Elaine Miller, Dorothy Missimer, Rebecca Saunders, and Margaret E. Thomas. The chapter's highest ambition was realized when the placque for scholarship was awarded to Phi Zeta Sigma.

Martha Frances Cobb, president of the sorority, showed her capacity for leadership, as she guided the chapter with clear insight and understanding. Always ready to lend her assistance was Nahrea Coleman, vice-president. Recording secretary Estelle Smith competently filled her office at all times, and Lucille Cheatham, corresponding secretary, busied herself with the chapter's correspondence. Financial affairs were left to Sara Seward, treasurer, who attended to them in an efficient and conscientious manner.

The problems, joys, and sorrows of the girls were brought unhesitatingly to their faculty adviser, Miss Willie London. Patrons of Phi Zeta Sigma are: Miss Lila London, Mrs. George W. Jeffers, and Miss Katherine Tupper.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

PI Kappa Sigma opened its social season with a colorful and festive Hallowe'en party. Helen Ott and Frances Lee Hawthorne were welcomed into the chapter at this time.

The chapter members now can look back with amusement to their utter lack of furniture during the intermission party for Senior Dance.

Winter rushing, accompanied as usual by intense excitement, came to a close with these attractive pledges being added to the chapter roll: Peggy Becker, Shirley Cadmus, Ida Coleman, Ann Covington, Nancy Dashiell, Ruth Dugger, Sarah Lee East, Martha Higgins, Barbara Hudson, Jane Johnson, Kendall Nottingham, Kitty Patrick, Martha Patterson, and Ellen Kendall Scott.

The spring banquet of Pi Kappa Sigma was, as always, an occasion for gaiety and delight. Members were greatly pleased by the return of many alumnae, who contributed much to the occasion.

Officers this year were well-chosen and were largely responsible for the success of the chapter's undertakings this year. Josephine Ware, president, filled her office with quiet dignity. As vice-president, Amy Read proved her worth to the chapter by her willingness to work on even the most thankless tasks. It was Ellen Royall's job as secretary to record the minutes of all meetings and to do any letter writing which might be necessary. In charge of financial matters was Gerry Ackiss, treasurer, who conscientiously checked and reported on chapter incomes and expenditures.

All members agreed that the chapter could never have been the source of pleasure it was if it had not been for their faculty adviser, Miss Olive T. Iler.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

THE first outstanding event which the Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma participated in was the regional meet held at this college.

Officers of the chapter were Allene Overbey, president; Eleanor Folk, vice-president; Louisa Sanford, recording secretary; Jane Sanford, corresponding secretary; and Harriet Scott, treasurer.

These pledges were added to the chapter roll after winter rushing: Betty Agnew, Ida Billups, Betty Birchfield, Mary Elizabeth Butterworth, Jane Brown, Betsy Davis, Anne Engart, Julia Belle Glenn, Polly Anne Gray, Mollie Irby Hardaway, Nancy Harrell, Janet Jackson, Marilyn Johnson, Dora Jones, Margaret Kitchin, Lucy Manson, Harriet Moore, Jane Moseley, Tee Overbey, Hilah Lee Parks, Mary Ann Reid, Virginia Terrell, Barbara Scott, Virginia VanZandt, Nellie Varn, Nancy Wilkinson, Helen Wilson.

Miss Pauline Camper, faculty adviser, generously gave her time and effort to the chapter. As for social events, her annual tea surpassed even the previously delightful one.

THETA SIGMA UPSILON

WITH joyous memories of their house party at Virginia Beach still lingering with them, the members of Theta Sigma Upsilon gathered at school in the fall to begin another full and varied year of activity.

The tea room was the scene of their first gala occasion of the year, the annual fall banquet which was held the eve of Senior Dance. Everyone enjoyed the festivity, and the girls agreed that each detail was perfect. On Sunday of the same week-end alumnae of this chapter were honored with a lavish breakfast in the chapter room. The members derived a great deal of pleasure from entertaining their guests, who had so shortly before been active participants in school life here.

Theta Sigma Upsilon had as its president, Anne Price. Ably assisting her was Mary Charlotte Jones, who filled the vice-presidency in a worthy manner. Secretary Ruth Fraughnaugh faithfully wrote up the minutes and took care of all correspondence. Money matters were left up to Mildred Bowen, treasurer. All articles for publication were composed by June Smith, editor. Miss Helen Draper served as faculty adviser. She was always ready to help in any way she could, whatever project was underway. Her splendid ideas and plans always proved to be of service to the chapter.

Rush week came and went, leaving with Theta Sigma Upsilon these new pledges: Catherine Acree, Jean Akers, Mildred Ames, Littelle Coffman, Nancy Dickerson, Mary Plummer Edmunds, Ann Garnett, Mary Elizabeth Jacob, Frances Latane, Anne Leatherbury, Marjorie Lee, Gwen Long, Helen Martin, Jean Prosise, Frances Quillen, Marguerite Sizemore and Onita Witcher.

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

THE Pan-Hellenic council was established to maintain high standards along every line of sorority endeavor. All matters of interest among sororities are discussed by the council. It regulates all rules as to bid days, rushing, and sorority ethics, and serves as a court of appeal for all sorority difficulties.

The council has three open meetings during the year and a number of closed meetings. A generous contribution is made each year at White Christmas and again at Founder's Day.

Rushing is perhaps the most important function of the council. Once each quarter, the eight sororities on the campus have the privilege of bidding girls who have been in school for at least one quarter with an average of C or above. The council also sponsored the Pan-Hellenic dance that was most successful.

Jean Weller, president; Anne Boswell, vice-president; Lucy Ellen Powell, secretary; Katherine Dunton, treasurer; Sue Marshall, chairman of programs; Mary Lou Shannon, publicity chairman; Mary Harvie, keeper of the records; and Mary Jane Ritchie, chairman of rushing, composed the council this year.

DRAMATIC CLUB

THE Farmville Dramatic Club initiated its year's program with the presentation of Sir James Matthew Barrie's "The Little Minister," in which Peggy Bellus and Tedo Savage of the Hampden-Sydney "Jongleurs" took the leads. Chief among the club's service projects for the year was the adoption of Violet Burgess, a little British girl.

In December the Dramatic Club joined with Beorc Eh Thorn and Pi Gamma Mu in sponsoring a series of lectures by Dr. Charles Morgan, eminent English novelist. For the first time in the history of the Dramatic Club, several members of the Hampden-Sydney "Jongleurs" joined with the Farmville girls in presenting one of the monthly apprentice plays given by the acting group. The big event of the spring season was the production of the spring play, "Death Takes a Holiday," by Walter Ferris. Martha Woodhouse and John Pancake were the leading actors in the play. In April the annual play contest for all high schools in Southside Virginia was sponsored by the Dramatic Club. The purpose of the contest is to create a greater interest in good drama among high school students.

For membership in the club, new girls must serve as apprentices in one of the groups until February, when bids are extended to those girls showing interest and meeting proper requirements.

The Dramatic Club is divided into six departments. The make-up group, headed by Mary Lou Shannon; the costume group, by Gene Hardy Kilmon; lighting, by Margaret Mish and Nelle White; staging, by Lucy Davis and Susie Moore; properties, by Louise Phillips; and acting, by Jane McGinnis—these made up the various functional departments of the club. The heads of the groups made up the executive committee.

Margaret Wright served as president. Elsie Stossel was vice-president; Betty Youngberg, secretary; Lillian German, treasurer; Mary Harvie, assistant business manager; Ella Banks Weathers, chairman of the play contest; Catherine Bodine, music chairman; Miriam Hanvey, scrap-book chairman; Mary Parrish Viccellio, chairman of publicity; Lillian Wahab, social chairman; Elizabeth Ann Parker, parliamentarian; and Winifred Wright, head of the poster committee. Miss Leola Wheeler served as adviser and director of the plays.

The COTILLION CLUB

THE Cotillion Club is the only organization on the campus whose purpose is to plan and give dances for its members—one dance in the fall and one in the spring. At the fall dance each member invites one girl in school to go as her guest, thus supplying a stag line for the dates of the members.

In the fall, one hundred and forty-four old members returned to school. As the membership is limited to two hundred and fifty girls, invitations to join the club were issued to thirty-nine old girls and to sixty-five new girls, freshmen and transfers.

Mary Hunter Edmunds was elected parliamentarian of the club to keep order in the meetings and maintain the order of business. Mr. M. B. Coyner served as faculty adviser for the year.

Sarah Wade Owen, Polly Keller, and Margaret Wright were selected to serve on the music committee for the year, with Harriet Cantrell as chairman. Freddie Lee and his orchestra furnished the music for the fall dance. Fall Cotillion, as usual, saw the return of many alumnae and was one of the gala events of the season.

The date for Spring Cotillion was set for May 9th, and the music committee was put in charge of obtaining an orchestra. The new members of the club were not permitted to bring dates to the dance. The traditional "Goat Week," the period of initiation for new members, followed the spring dance. At Longwood on the last day of "Goat Week" a picnic was given by the club for all its members. All initiation was ended here, and the new members were welcomed into the club.

Spring Cotillion, with its ever popular tea dance, served for many of the seniors as a climax to their four years of social life at school.

GRANDDAUGHTERS CLUB

GIRLS whose mothers or grandmothers have at one time attended Farmville State Teachers College are eligible for membership in the Granddaughters Club. Forty-two of these girls were initiated into the club this fall.

One of the first social events of the year was the Hallowe'en party at which Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Mix, and Dr. Jarman were the honored guests. Next came the beautiful tea at which Miss Mary Clay Hiner acted as a most gracious hostess.

The Granddaughters Club sponsored as its first enterprise of the year a booth in the circus. On Founders Day, the members of the Granddaughters Club were on duty all day. They acted as hostesses at the tea; thus they had an opportunity to meet and know their "mother's friends."

Polly Keller, as president, led the group. Eleanor Folk was her able assistant as the vice-president. Lucy Davis proved to be a competent secretary, and Harriet Walker, an equally competent treasurer. Miss Mary Clay Hiner was the adviser for the club.

NORTHERN NECK CLUB

ON October 14, a little over five years ago, a group of enthusiastic girls from the vicinity of Northern Neck, Virginia, gathered together and organized a club with Mr. French as the adviser and Mrs. Turnbull as the sponsor.

The aim of the Northern Neck Club is purely social. One meeting was held each quarter at which parties and various entertainments for the year were planned. One of the most enjoyable memories was that of the hamburger feast at Mr. Graham's. Later in the year an oyster feast was also given at Mr. Graham's. A spaghetti dinner and the annual picnic were given at Longwood.

The club had its serious motives too. It contributed to the Red Cross, and the members wrote letters to various high schools in the vicinity of Northern Neck urging the girls to choose Farmville as their Alma Mater. Josephine Ware led the group as president. It was her third year in that office. Assisting her as vice-president was Frances Latane. Other officers were Louise Rice as secretary, Elizabeth Bellows as treasurer, and Catherine Acree as reporter.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

THE Baptist Student Union, acting as a connecting link between the college and the church, gave an appropriate Thanksgiving sunrise service at Longwood.

Twelve members of the B. S. U. attended the convention held at Madison College on October 24 to 26. The theme of this convention was "Supreme Allegiance to Christ." Every Tuesday night there was a meeting of the Friendship Circle. A fellowship supper was given one Sunday night each month. Mrs. William Fallis, the state student secretary, gave a study course on the "Deepening of the Spiritual Life." On April 18, the Spring Retreat met for the State at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

This year marked the coming of a new student secretary, Miss Sarah Poole, who worked with the B. S. U. in supervising the reconstruction and redecoration of the rooms for the Young People's department. Ruby Conner was president of the B. S. U. council. Other officers include Texie Belle Felts as the enlistment chairman, Frances L. Hawthorne as the social chairman, Ellen Hudgins as the devotional chairman, Ella Poole as the secretary, and Marie Davis as the treasurer.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

AT the beginning of the year, all of the Presbyterian students were invited to a party at the church. In October one of the high lights of the year took place in Richmond. Six of the council attended the Student Conference, which is held annually for all Presbyterian students in Virginia.

Soon after the return from the Christmas holidays, all those girls who wished to be affiliated with the church here for their four years of college, did so at a Sunday morning service conducted by Mr. A. H. Hollingsworth. The affiliated members celebrated the birthday of George Washington appropriately with a gay "Hatchet Party" in the Sunday-school basement.

Under the helpful guidance of Mr. Hollingsworth, the council worked to give the girls a warm welcome at all times to all the work of the church here, and it provided help at whatever time it was needed.

Polly Keller served as president; Ella Banks Weathers served as vice-president; Julia Eason, as secretary. The entire council met monthly to plan its work and discuss ways of helping every Presbyterian girl.

COLLEGE CHOIR

THE College Choir was organized in 1931 and through its efforts the following glee clubs have appeared on the campus: Hampden-Sydney Glee Club, University of Richmond Glee Club, University of North Carolina Glee Club, Washington and Lee Glee Club, University of Virginia Glee Club, Duke University Glee Club, Duke University Chapel Choir, Harvard University Glee Club and Orchestra. March 19, 1942, the College Choir appeared with the Yale University Glee Club and Duke University Chapel Choir in the Chapel at Duke in the presentation of Brahms' "Requiem." In the spring, the Choir gave a concert in New York City and the following afternoon they rendered a sacred program in St. Thomas' Church, New York City. Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist and master of St. Thomas' Choir, officiated at the organ. At this time the College Choir, together with Yale and Duke University Glee Clubs, broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up.

CHORAL CLUB

THE Choral Club is a most important aid in the selection of girls to become members of the College Choir. After a year's work in the Choral Club many of the members are advanced to membership in the Choir.

The first appearance of the Choral Club was at the Christmas Concert. This was the first time that the Christmas Concert has ever been sponsored by the Choral Club; in previous years it was always sponsored by the Choir. At this time the Choral Club sang "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by Johann Sebastian Bach. Their next appearance was in the early spring at the Methodist Church in Farmville. At that service they sang "The Lord Is My Light" by Frances Allesten.

This year the Choral Club has done a remarkable piece of work in that it has turned out many musically gifted girls, who are potential members of the College Choir.

SENIOR A CAPPELLA

THE Senior A Cappella Choir is the oldest small group in the music department of the college. This year the group made its opening appearance early in December when it appeared in a Sing program on Saturday night in conjunction with Orchesis. The next appearance of the choir was at the Christmas Concert when they sang "Thus Then the Law of the Spirit" by Johann Sebastian Bach and "God Hath Now Ascended" by Gallus Branscombe.

In the spring the Senior A Cappella journeyed to New York along with the choir and there made their appearance in the sacred concert given in St. Thomas' Church, New York City.

The choir has worked hard and faithfully during the year to afford Farmville a more varied music program. They have mastered difficult sacred pieces and have offered the students at Farmville the opportunity of broadening their minds musically.

JUNIOR A CAPPELLA

THE Junior A Cappella Choir is composed of students selected from the College Choir and is directed by a student director. This group is organized for the purpose of hearing something of unaccompanied music and of preparing for the Senior A Cappella Choir.

Appearances in church and on the concert stage with the College Choir and the Senior A Cappella Choir have been a vital part of the program. At the last Christmas Concert the Junior A Cappella Choir appeared with much success.

As a part of the program that was given in the Duke University Chapel in March, the Junior A Cappella Choir was merged with the College Choir in a presentation of Brahms' "Requiem."

The group took an outstanding part in the Sacred Recital in the Methodist Church, Farmville. In April, they made an appearance at the College of William and Mary.

CHOIR DIRECTORS

IN the musical workshop of the college there are those girls who by their talent and ability have been assigned jobs as leaders of the various musical groups. These student directors, as they are called, are chosen out of the group of girls who are majoring or minoring in music. Opportunity to direct is given to those who show such musical ability; those who are interested in knowing something of A Cappella and Choral singing are given the chance to learn. Others are being taught the art of accompaniment. All of this instruction is under the close supervision of Mr. Alfred Strick, head of the Music Department. Regular rehearsals are scheduled, and each term student directors and student accompanists rotate, thus giving each one the opportunity to cover the specialized field.

This year those girls who composed the group of student directors were Intermediate A Cappella, Katherine Bodine; Quartet, Jean Weller; Senior A Cappella, Virginia Barksdale; Junior A Cappella, Virginia Barksdale; accompanists, Eleanor Feagans, Katherine Bodine, and Ada Clare Snyder.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

THE Madrigal Singers is a group of girls which has grown greatly in popularity in this, its second year of existence. These girls sing songs that were popular in the taverns during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The gray robes that they wear add greatly to the atmosphere of Old England which their singing creates.

Their first appearance was in November when they sang three numbers at the John Marshall High School in Richmond for the State Teachers Convention. There they were received with great interest and enthusiasm. Their next appearance was the occasion of Dr. Charles Morgan's speech. Before his speech they sang two numbers which helped to make Dr. Morgan, a noted English author, feel entirely at home.

At the Christmas Concert when the Madrigal group appeared, the lighting and their robes created an amazing picture. They sang many old Yuletide numbers. Among the selections at that time were "In Dulce Jubilo," a German carol, and "Awake, Thou Winter Earth." During the year they appeared before the Woman's Club of Farmville several times and on all the choir programs.

FALL OF THE YEAR

FALL of the year . . . and more happy moments than we can recall. First days of unpacking, schedule-making, and getting acquainted with new girls, new classes and new teachers. Among the first of the social functions was the Big Sister-Little Sister reception given by the "Y." October brought the circus, and the sophomores carried off the honors with their prize-winning stunt. Harriet Scott, pride of the seniors, was crowned queen of the celebration. The faculty selected eighteen outstanding seniors to represent Farmville in "Who's Who." Tedo Savage of Hampden-Sydney made a hit as the "Little Minister," and the Dramatic Club added another success to its credit. Fall Cotillion with swing music and a gay crowd contributed to our merriment.

The circus clowns, after entertaining the spectators during the floor show, take time out for a little self-enjoyment. Louise Phillips, Lena Butterworth, and Kyle Ainsworth try "jitterbugging" in trio outside the senior dance booth.

Eighteen seniors represent Farmville in the 1942 edition of "Who's Who Among College Students in American Universities and Colleges." Those listed are: Dodson, M. Wright, Dupuy, Ayers, Turnbull, Cline, Wertz, A. Overbey, Zehmer, M. H. Edmunds, M. Roberts, Barksdale, Engleby, Boswell, Rosebro, Naff, C. Eason, and D. Johnson.

"Which is the Freshman you . . . or you?" was asked as upper classmen and new girls passed down the receiving line of the Big Sister - Little Sister Reception. All gathered in the gym to enjoy the entertainment by Zeke's Zippers, the senior smoothies, and Peggy Bellus. 'Twas a gay affair.

"The Little Minister," the fall Dramatic Club play, brought to the Farmville stage Rob-Dow, and Micah, his son, portrayed by Ace Livick and Martha Woodhouse.

Dancing 'neath silver stars, the members of Cotillion enjoy their fall dance. Leona and Jane Lee have fun waltzing to the smooth music of Freddie Lee; Anne Turner awaits an opportune moment to break.

Hot dogs intrigued Jean and Sally at the Circus before they threw darts, took chances on the cake and their fortunes.

From Fall into the EARLY in November Farmville acted as host for the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association Convention. Many delegates from colleges throughout the state found suggestions and guidance in the meetings and had time for the social activities—the dance, football game, and banquet as well. Following the Thanksgiving holidays, Green and White won the color rush for the buildings. On the hockey field the sophomore team defeated the freshman team. This meant wearing "rat-caps until Christmas" for the class. Senior Formal, the climax of class productions for the seniors, presented the V. M. I. Commanders and an all-white figure in which members of the class participated. Christmas season came again, with its traditional Hanging of the Greens, Christmas banquet, and pageant, and stories by Miss Rice. Then began the inevitable exams before the holidays.

The Circus Parade froliced down High Street led by Sara Cline on her gallant steed. Clowns, animals, and nominees for Queen gaily followed.

Margie and Mildred helped Polly decorate her bicycle for Color Rush. After Zeke's Zippers had formed a perfect '42 on the athletic field, P. Hughes championed the Senior Hockey team in a daring bike ride across the hockey field.

Allene Overbey presided at the V. I. P. A. Convention, and Guy Fridell of Richmond University was selected to be her successor.

Winter

Monogram Club members Marty Roberts and Nell Hurt take time out from watching the color rush hockey games to sell cokes to Nancy Naff and Gloria Pollard.

Singing carols at "Hanging of the Greens" is an age-old custom of Farmville's Christmas season. May leads her A Cappella in a bit of harmony.

The Seniors presented their dance on December 6; Liggie Ellett, honorary class member, returned to lead the figure. She was assisted by class president, Mary Katherine Dodson, Miss Rachel Royall, classman, and the other class officers.

Dressed in white, seniors and their favorite dates form the '42 and receive their dance programs. Mary Hunter and Paul take this "figuring" seriously.

Betty Boutchard, Shirley Turner and Dot Childress smile at their success. After spending three months getting glamorous, they finally talked Mr. Mac into taking their picture for "The Virginian."

Campus Scene - - -

LIFE on the Campus has been filled with days of work and play, going from classes to the library, then to labs or meetings. Days near exams became filled with parallel reading, term paper writing, and hours of studying. We sought our entertainment at the lyceum programs, the many dances, class productions, in the gym playing basketball and volley ball, on the new tennis courts, or riding along the trail to Longwood. Week-ends were looked to for dances at Tech, W. & L., and V. M. I.; a shopping tour to Richmond; or a trip home. Knitting became an accompaniment to all bull sessions, meetings, and idle hours. The exciting row of specials, telegrams, and calls on the Home Office mantel was a sharp contrast to the dust-filled boxes at the Post-Office. There were Dr. Walmsley's timely and informative chapel talks each Wednesday, the beginning of our own Defense Council, Founder's Day Celebration, May Day Practices and spring outings — with these we filled our days which grew into four years of college life.

Scrapbooks are always fascinating, especially Mary Evelyn's, for it is her diary, too. Droste and M. K. Ingham found something just too good to keep to themselves; they summoned all of Ritzy-Row to share in their discovery.

Freshman caught studying for Mr. French's chemistry test. Hilah Lee points out to Hacky, Seay, and Janet a way to balance the puzzling equation.

Saturday night pastime—questioning the Ouija Board about all of the perplexing problems which confuse freshmen. Ida Coleman and Fay Johnson concentrate as the magic little table starts to slide across the board. The on-lookers wait patiently for the answer and their turn at questioning. M. Orange and N. Wilkinson have had their queries answered and amuse themselves with a bit of chatting.

The attractive ones wait their turn to use the telephone in Junior-Senior Building. As soon as Dot finished her three-minute conversation with Texas, Irma put through her call to the University of Virginia.

The art of packing and unpacking—Mary Anne Biggs Betty Burns, and Alice Barcalow take time out to get acquainted on one of those first nights.

Seniors Will Recall

THAT rainy September morning in 1938—the newness of dorm life—Rat Week ending with May Winn as Best Rat—Anne Shirley as class president and Miss Jane Royall as Classman—Freshman Circus stunt which brought honorable mention—"The Magic Carpet"—sophomore year with Dodson as president—the big snow—prize-winning sing and "The Gay Nineties" Circus Stunt—"Petition to Time," another milestone in class productions—"Moving to the Building" as juniors—Miss Rachel Royall as new Classman—"Out of Nowhere"—the coke-machine—Dean's List—picnics and first marching to the Alma Mater under senior caps—at last seniors in caps and gowns—going downtown at ten—teaching—Senior Formal—cooking in the kitchen—bull-sessions—last times of doing many things—Senior Banquet—Class day—Lantern Parade—the Daisy Chain—and finally, graduation.

Rat Week—Mo smiles, remembering the laundry bags, rooms cleaned, the courts before lunch, and praising '41.

Cotillion Goat Week and the more ridiculous we were, the greater the enjoyment. Kit's a beaming example.

Camera fiend Lillian German took time from her coverage of the freshman year to pose on the roof, favorite sunbathing spot.

Sophomores broke the first path to Shannons through the three-foot drifts. Marie Thompson found that she could have used boots!

Riding became a favorite sport our sophomore year, with long rides to Longwood in the early spring. Many afternoons girls treked to the stables for a ride on "King Cole" and the others.

Zekes Zippers, made up of members of the Junior Class, performed at many functions. Here the "kazoos" were forgotten, and all the crowd cheered as Red and White scored a goal at Color Rush.

Mardi Gras Celebration at which Nancy Naff was crowned Queen-of-Hearts amid fanfare. Costumes passing the reviewing stand ranged from Gwen Sampson as a Christmas tree to Carmen Miranda!

Seniors met on Campus to discuss new spring suits, teaching problems, living in the Practice House, applications for jobs next year, rings that were news, and the world situation.

Marching out of the auditorium with Little Sisters, holding the daisy chain and forming the "forty-two" meant to the seniors just one thing—graduation—the culmination of four years of classes, activities and friendships.

Mary Lou Shannon, queen of May Day festivities, was acclaimed by all for her beauty and charm.

MAY DAY

THE May Day held on May 2 depicted the festivities in Williamsburg, gay capital of Virginia, when Governor Spotswood and his band of explorers returned from their journey into the valley of Virginia. First there was an Indian dance, Hymn to the Sun, asking the gods to guide the adventurers. Then they set off on their journey, and after a lapse of three months plans were made to celebrate the homecoming with a fete and ball. The children rolled their hoops, played a tag game, and danced the May Pole dance. Following this came the colorful target contest, an exciting duel, and three folk dances, the English, Irish, and Scotch, danced in traditional costume.

With the entrance of the Queen and her court, Governor Spotswood crowned the Queen. After the coronation several preclassic dances provided regal entertainment.

Governor Spotswood and his men left Williamsburg to explore the valley of Virginia—they were portrayed by Martha Hite, Shirley McCalley, Helen McGuire, Frances Parham, Caroline Eason, Jane McGinnis, and Betty Cross.

Gay folk dances were held on the village green to celebrate return of the adventurers. Scottie, Jane, Lois, Polly and Susan await their turn to perform.

Nancy Naff, as maid of honor, graciously attended the queen at the ball given in celebration of Governor Spotswood's return.

Contests were the order of the day—Sanford and Bradshaw entertained the honored guests by matching their skills in a duel.

In stately beauty the May Court attended the queen in the climaxing event of May Day fete—the Grand Ball. Court members were: S. Hardy, Wertz, Overbey, Boswell, Rosebro, E. A. Parker, H. W. Hardy, Patterson, Childress, Bradshaw, Gunter, S. M. Goode, Keller, N. Dashiell, G. W. Brown, Cottrell, Pearsall, Radspinner, Trible.

PERSONALI

REFLECTING THE MANY FACETS OF A WELL ROUNDED GIRL....

THE fondest hope of any college girl might justly be to attain the quality of being a well-rounded person. While at Farmville, we are touched by many divergent forces, all of which leave their impression, and from them we emerge the better for their influence but needing a philosophy for their use. One of the faculty members who is often asked to speak to the freshmen, gives them this advice, "Be interested in many things, good at a few, but excel in one."

In planning the 1942 Yearbook we sought to present the activities of Farmville from the standpoint of the well-rounded girl who has shown her interest in all activities, worked enthusiastically in a few she chose as representing her best efforts, and excelled in one, whether scholarship, athletics, or extra-curricular work.

The student body has selected from among the Senior class, eight girls who successfully qualify as well-rounded college girls and who have exerted an influence for good by their inspiration and leadership. They are Nancy Naff, president of the Student Body; Frances Rosebro, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the Senior Class; Anne Ayers, editor of the 1942 Virginian; Allene Overbey, editor of the Colonnade; May Wertz, editor of the 1941 Virginian, Jane Engleby, president of the House Council, and Sara Cline, editor of the Rotunda.

Acknowledgment

WITH the completion of the work on the 1942 "Virginian," we realize that without the help of certain individuals and groups the publication of this volume would not have been possible. We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the following:

Gitchell's Studio, Harrisonburg, for their assistance in the making of our photographs.

Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company, Chicago, for their help in the planning of the theme.

J. P. Bell Company, Inc., Lynchburg, printers, for their suggestions and services.

Mr. T. A. McCorkle, adviser, whose genuine interest and constant guidance have inspired the work of the staff.

Miss Nancy Foster, literary adviser, for her valuable assistance with the write-ups.

Miss Virginia Bedford, art adviser, for her interest and aid with the student art work.

The Student Body, for its continued cooperation.

The Staff of the "Virginian," who have given generously of their time and effort in the preparation of layouts, copy and pictures for this volume.

Anne Ayers, Editor-in-Chief

May McNeil Wertz, Managing Editor
